Here's a quick stab at a response.

CFAC has provided us with the draft of the Phase I "Data Summary Report" and Screening level Ecological Risk . This document is over 7000 pages long and we are in the process of looking at the report. A copy is currently being made for the repository in the Columbia Falls Library, and CFAC is making it available electronically. Once we have a chance to complete our review we will use this information to help guide any changes necessary on the next phase of sampling.

(It's not really about whether we trust or have good experience with the reporters.)

You can prepare a generic response about the data (a desk statement) and I'll get it cleared by HQ and then we can send it to anyone who calls.

Hi Lisa,

Sam Wilson from the Daily Interlake in Kalispell called and was wondering when we will be getting some results in from the testing. Any problems with me calling him back? I've talked with him in the past and never had any issues with them.

Mike
